

Academic Panthers JV Challenge Champions

Kiley Robinson, Daniel Manning, Logan Norris, and Maria Mitchell listen to a toss up question in their first round match against Mason County.

The Panthers pose with their championship plaque and individual awards

The Fleming County High School Academic Panthers continued their outstanding early season run with an overall Section 10 championship. The Panthers entered their JV Challenge Sectional competition as a favorite, despite a very strong field, and exceeded those lofty expectations. The competition, limited to freshman and sophomore participants, had Fleming squaring off with regular Limestone League opponents: Rowan, Mason, and Montgomery Counties, and 10th Region competitor Pendleton County.

Fleming would open the double elimination quick recall competition against archrival Mason County. Mason would take a quick 1-0 lead on question two. Fleming would counter on question five with the first of Logan Norris' game high six points. A bonus conversion gave the Panthers a short-lived lead, as the Royals fought back over the next 10 questions to take a 5-3 lead. The Panthers' 8-3 run closed the first half with Fleming ahead 11-8. The Royals would outscore Fleming 11-9 in the second half to come up just short as the Panthers held on to win 20-19. This would prove to be the Panthers' stiffest challenge of the day.

In their second game Fleming would cruise to a 23-5 victory over Montgomery County. The next match was more of the same as Fleming rolled to a 25-10 win over Rowan County, to set up a second match with Mason County.

In the second Fleming-Mason tilt the Panthers would ensure that the match would not go down to the wire, like the first showdown had. This time Fleming would rush to an 11-5 lead at the half and add to that advantage in the second frame to take a 23-13 victory, and claim the top spot in the quick recall portion of the competition.

Total quick recall scoring for the Panthers through four games were: Daniel Manning-20, Maria Mitchell-17, Logan Norris-13, Kiley Robinson-10, and Lucas Kater-1.

In addition to quick recall, the competition included a number of individual events that would allow participants to earn points for their teams toward the overall crown. Fleming would take top honors in five of the six individual events. Manning would take the top spot in both Science and Math. Robinson would finish on top in Language Arts, with Norris claiming the Humanities title, and Mitchell capturing the Composition competition.

Other Panther medalists include: Zander Hamm-Science-2nd; Mitchell-2nd Language Arts, Kate Wheeler-3rd-Language Arts; Lucas Campbell-4th-Social Studies; Lucas Kater-6th-Social Studies; and Robinson-2nd-Humanities.

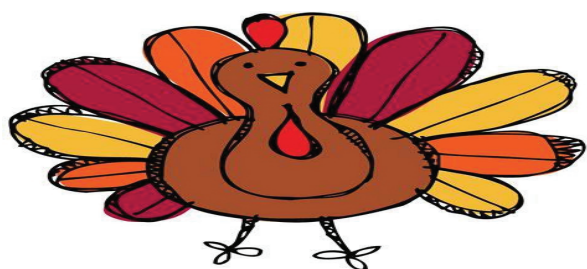

The Panthers will return to Limestone Academic League action on Wednesday when they make up a delayed match with Rowan County. The following night they will travel to Maysville for the league finale against Mason County.

Kent Grannis and Alora Chesney coach the Academic Team.

THANK YOU!

Thank you to all the voters who got out and voted on election day, November 8th. I certainly appreciate that I was reelected to serve as Mayor of Flemingsburg for 4 more years. We accomplished a lot in the last 4 years and we have lots of work ahead of us. Thanks !

SCAM ALERT !!

Fleming County Sheriff Office has received several calls about a Jury Duty scam that is going around today. They are telling people they owe money for missing. Please know that you will never be asked for money or personal information over the phone for Jury Duty. Further more, FCSO will never contact anybody about owing them money.

State 'Snowfighters' in Northeast Kentucky Ready for Winter Weather Season

Snow plows prepped, salt and other ice-busting materials stocked

Snowfighters ready!

State snowfighters have a message for Mother Nature as the season's first wintry weather advances on northeast Kentucky – we're ready!

Highway technicians in Kentucky Department of Highways District 9, who maintain more than 2,000 miles of state roads in Bath, Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Fleming, Greenup, Lewis, Mason, Nicholas and Rowan counties, have stockpiled all their salt, prepped all their snow plows, and just last month completed their final training for winter weather duty.

"Snow removal is a top priority of the Transportation Cabinet, and we have a team of professionals ready to tackle that job when the first flakes fly," said Steve Gunnell, chief district engineer. "They have the right equipment, the right resources, and are always prepared to keep motorists moving on Kentucky's roadways."

The right equipment includes more than 75 snow plows, brine application tankers, and other snow-fighting machines. And, the right resources include tens of thousands of tons of salt, brine, and other ice-busting materials stockpiled in each of the district's 10 counties.

Weather-watching supervisory teams are now on duty and will call out snow plow and salt truck crews as needed throughout Kentucky's fall, winter, and early spring snow season.

When snowstorms hit, crews will be assigned 12-hour shifts to plow and treat state highways on a priority basis – part of the Cabinet's mission to keep traffic moving in a safe manner with an emphasis on maintaining mobility along critical corridors.

Priority A routes include critical state routes and those most heavily traveled such as interstates or roads to hospitals, which receive the highest priority for snow-clearing efforts. Priority B and C routes include other important, but lesser-traveled state routes.

The Cabinet's snow and ice information website, SnowKY.ky.gov, provides public information such as snowfighting status updates, winter driving tips, fact sheets, and videos on the snow removal process.

In addition, the public can monitor winter operations in real time on the state's interactive traffic system – GoKY.ky.gov or via the Waze app – to find out what's happening in each county.

Statewide, nearly 2,000 men and women serve on the frontlines and behind the scenes of the Cabinet's snow and ice removal efforts. The Cabinet is equipped with several hundred thousand tons of salt, as well as adequate supplies of brine and calcium chloride, and more than 1,000 deployable trucks and plows among the 125 snow and ice maintenance locations. More than 400 more contracted trucks are available to assist in snow and ice operations.

PUBLIC PREPARATION

As a motorist, you can also prepare for winter and remain safe throughout snow season by following these tips:

Pay attention to weather advisories. Weather will impact travel on some level, so prepare for a slower commute.

Travel only as necessary during major snow events. It's better to be stuck at home than to be stuck on the road.

Maintain a safe braking distance from other vehicles; and keep your distance from snowplows.

Do not pass snowplows on the shoulder.

Winterize vehicles. Stock vehicles with blankets, flashlight, and an emergency supply kit.

Know before you go. Visit goky.ky.gov and download the free Waze app to check traffic conditions before you travel.

Eliminate distractions (e.g. using phone and eating) while driving.

Always wear your seatbelt. It's the law, and it's the best defense in weather-related crashes.

Cooperate with the expectations of the Quick Clearance law, which requires drivers to move vehicles to the shoulder in the event of a non-injury crash.

KYTC HIGHWAY DISTRICT 9 SNOW REMOVAL PRIORITY ROUTES

Snow removal efforts start with Priority

A routes and proceed to B and C routes as quickly as storm intensity allows. During major storms, it could be many hours before lower-priority routes are plowed, so know your route and plan travel accordingly.

Fleming County: Priority A routes include US 68, KY 11, KY 32, KY 57 north of Flemingsburg, the Flemingsburg Bypass, and KY 165. Priority B routes are KY 32X, KY 170, KY 111, KY 559, KY 344, and KY 1902. Other routes, such as KY 597, KY 158, KY 1013, KY 156, KY 1325, KY 697, etc., are Priority C.

Visit KYTC online at <https://maps.kytc.ky.gov/snowandicepriorityroutes/> for an interactive map of priority routes statewide.
